GRANTS RELATED TO LSBFG

- NHMRC APP1068652 CIA: Patricia Price, University of Western Australia. Do NK cells limit the long term burden of CMV in older Australians and transplant recipients? 2014-2016, $401,447
- NHMRC APP1080587 CIA : Nigel Laing, University of Western Australia. Identifying disease genes for neurogenetic disorders using next generation sequencing. 2015-2019, $2,416,717.
- NHMRC APP1099480 CIA : Susan Prescott, University of Western Australia, Dietary Modulation of maternal gut Flora with oligosaccharides in pregnancy as a novel allergy prevention strategy. 2016-2020, $1,681,512
- Perpetual Private Funding. CIA : Nigel Laing, Perkins Institute. Answers for those who have none: next generation DNA sequencing for neurogenetic patients with no genetic diagnosis. 2015-2016, $75,870.

REFEREED PUBLICATIONS ARISING FROM LSBFG

2 Nagel R, Traub RJ, Allcock RJN, Kwan MMS and Bielefeldt-Ohmann H (2016) Differences in faecal microbiota profiles between blastocystis-positive and negative irritable bowel syndrome patients. Accepted in Microbiome. (IF:9.0) PMID:

3 Huang B, Allcock R and Warrilow D (2016) Newly characterized arboviruses of northern Australia. Accepted in Virology Reports. (IF:??) PMID:

24 Warrilow D and Allcock RJN (2013) Massively parallel sequencing for the microbiologist. _Microbiology Australia_. doi 10.1711/MA13060 (IF:1.86) PMID:

32 Hinrichs S, Patten N, Allcock RJN, Saunders SM, Strickland D and Waite AM (2013) Seasonal variations in energy levels and metabolic processes of two dominant

